COURT NEWS

A very interesting case was brought up at the court on Monday morning last, Inspector Blythe presiding. The prosecutor being A. F. Macdonald, of Coleman, and the defendant being A. F. McCrea, of Blairmore.

It appears that a bull, which had been feeding on A. F. Macdonald's hay for quite a while, was on Saturday, 8th inst., corralled and Mr. Macdonald advertised for the owner. On last Friday evening Mr. Macdonald went in search of some horses, leaving the bull safely corralled; but when returning to the ranch, about thirty minutes afterwards, he discovered that three bars of the corral entrance were down and the bull gone. He tracked the bull west and soon found it driven along by Mr. McCrea. Mr. Macdonald immediately came to town and informed the police of what had taken place. A corporal and Mr. Macdonald hurried off towards Blairmore and overtook A. F. McCrea who was driving the bull to Blairmore, in company with some other cattle. When overtaken, Mr. McCrea said that the bull belonged to himself, or, rather, it belonged to his wife. He stated that he did not find the bull in the corral, and he refused to settle Mr. Macdonald's claims. Mr. McCrea was therefore summoned to appear in court on Monday.

Mr. Macdonald claims that the bull could not have taken three bars from the corral so as to pass through but that they must have been taken down by some human being, while Mr. McCrea says that he knows nothing about how the bars came down, and that he found the bull outside of the corral. This, however, remains to be proven.

It developed in court that Mr. McCrea has kept about twenty head of cattle all through the winter with "not even a pound of hay" to feed them on; they having spent their whole time between Blairmore and Coleman.

After much examination the court adjourned to meet again on Tuesday morning next.

THE CONCILIATION BOARD

Rev. H. N. Grant, Presbyterian minister at Fernie, who has been appointed chairman of the conciliation board to settle the dispute between the Western Coal Operators' Association and District 18 of United Mine Workers of America, passed through to Macleod, the place of meeting, on Wednesday night. The board is now in session, and an early settlement of the coal strike is anxiously looked forward to by many.

RETIREES AT 103

Beno, Nev., May 19.—When Stirling Arnold, a farmer near here, reached the ripe age of 103 years on Sunday, he ceased heavy work, and his eldest son, a mere lad of 80, is taking his father's place in the fields. With the elder brother are four other sons, the youngest of whom is 53. It was with difficulty that Arnold could persuade his wife to cease heavy work. She will be 100 years old next month. Arnold was born in North Carolina, has used tobacco all his life, but has abstained from liquor. Incidentally he has been a deacon of the Baptist church for 34 years.

GENERAL BOOTH COMING WEST

Calgary, May 20.—General Booth, the veteran Salvation Army leader, will visit Calgary about the fourth week in September next and while in the city will address a large mass meeting. He will tour Canada from coast to coast.

According to the new postal law newspaper publishers can hold for fraud anyone who takes a paper from the office and refuses payment; and the man who allows his subscription to be unpaid and then orders the postmaster to mark a paper "refused" and sends notification to the publisher lays himself liable to arrest and fine.—Pincher Creek Echo.

Longboat and Shrubbs will meet in a 20 mile race in Toronto, on May 24th. This promises to be the best race of the season.

The interior of the Presbyterian church which was nicely kalsomined and cleaned last week, reflects great credit on those who performed the work gratis.

EARTHQUAKE SHOCKS

Make People Think That the End of the World Is Nearing—First Shocks in History

Winnipeg, May 19.—That it was safe from earthquakes has been the fixed idea of the Canadian prairie west until Saturday evening last when seismic disturbances were recorded of practically over 1000 square miles of territory, from the foot of Lake Winnipeg, in the east to southern Alberta, lying under the shadow of the Rockies, and running from the heart of the state of Montana as far north as telegraphic wires have been carried. Shocks appear to have been most severe along the main line of the C. P. R. between Brandon and Medicine Hat but without recording instruments available, comparative severity is at best but guess work, and the noteworthy feature is that the larger centers report the worst disturbances, apparently because they were most severely felt in high buildings.

In Brandon temporary damage was done to the lighting plant and the same occurred at Waseley where the well of the lighting plant caved in just before the shock, plunging the town in darkness. At Grenfell the shock was so severe that horses travelling on the road had difficulty in keeping their feet. In Winnipeg, at Saskatoon, at Regina, Moose Jaw, Medicine Hat and other places people rushed wildly out of their houses expecting worse to follow and it is reported in at least one city that they expected the end of the world had come. Curious too, it is reported from Regina that the buildings most shaken there was the best constructed building of steel and reinforced concrete, while other buildings, with perhaps more give and take, withstood the shock well. Farmers in a neighborhood of Medicine Hat thought the quake due to the firing of a gun, while in several cases rumbling as of thunder was reported to have immediately preceded the shocks, which generally lasted 20 seconds, from two or four in number at 22.17 central time, though one locality reports a final shock about midnight.

It is not too much to say that the event has astounded the west. Nothing else is talked about. Prof. Allen of Manitoba University encourages the belief that it has never happened before and may never happen again. Further reports as to the earthquake which occurred in the west Saturday night confirm the impression that the disturbance was confined to the southern part of the prairie country. Nothing was felt at Vancouver nor anywhere on the Pacific coast, Calgary being the most westerly point at which there was a tremor and there it was just barely perceptible. At the eastern end the disturbance did not spread beyond Winnipeg. Southernly it extended into Minnesota and northward to Prince Albert, but at both of these extremes the shock was slight.

Moose Jaw and Regina were the center of the disturbances. No damage was done anywhere. A second shock has evidently occurred through some parts of the country. The shock was felt in Montana and was recorded on the seismograph at Toronto, but does not seem to be affected the region which was visited Saturday night.

FIRST AUTOMOBILE IN THE PASS

Thursday's way freight brought to Blairmore the first automobile in the history of the Pass. The machine is owned by the Wolstenholme Bros. who will use it for the delivery of milk instead of as at present, by team. The machine has a double cylinder and is of the spoked wheel cushion tire variety and capable of moving on the heaviest kind of roads.

Since the enterprising dairy boys have broken the ice no doubt the Pass will see long use of the present mode of conveyances supplanted by the auto.

The people of this district will watch with keen interest the trials which will be made in a few days and should all go well the auto dealers will do a flourishing business in this small corner of the globe.

The machine is manufactured by the Tudhope McIntyre Co., of Orillia, Ont.

A wise man never boasts of his wisdom. He leaves that to his press agent.

The moving picture show at the opera house on Wednesday and last nights were very good. There will be another good moving picture show at the opera house tonight.

The football game which was played here on Saturday last, between Coleman and Bellevue, resulted in a victory for Coleman. The game was well played and merited much applause. The score was 3-2.

Alex. Morrison, deputy grand president of the Fraternal Order of Eagles for Alberta and Saskatchewan, returned to town yesterday (Thursday) after making an official visit to Calgary, Edmonton and intermediate points.

Tonella Pietro was brought down on the train on Monday and placed in the hospital here, having met with an accident whilst working at Hazel's lime quarry that day. He is suffering from injury to the spine with paralysis of both legs, but there are already signs of improvement.

If the sounds of hammers and saws indicate that a building boom is on (and we believe that they do), then when those who have gone east to see their grandmother, return to Coleman they may be inclined to believe that a bunch of capitalist have struck town. We predicted this sometime ago and the public can see that our predictions are materializing.

It is easy for some people to find faults in the life and doings of others but there are few who have no faults.

FIGHT ENDS IN A DRAW

Johnson Was Slow—Paul Akooose Defeats Appleby in Fifteen Mile Race—Cowley Sports

Philadelphia, May 10.—Jack Johnson, the big colored heavyweight champion, failed to win over Jack O'Brien, the Philadelphia light heavyweight, tonight in a six-round bout. That the fight was even if there was a decision allowed, it would have been a draw. The going rang for the first round at 10.35 p.m. Three tiresome preliminaries prolonged the wait until 10.30 before Johnson, the first to appear, shouldered his way through the crowd of aisle and climbed into the ring. His reception was cordial but not enthusiastic and there was even some hooting by the galleries.

"I weigh 162 pounds," said O'Brien, as he sat in his corner while the gloves were being drawn on. Johnson looked forty pounds the heavier as he dropped his big bath robe. Stanley Ketchell came forward to be introduced. He shook hands and wished O'Brien success and then crossed and greeted Johnson. The big black fellow sized Ketchell up carefully, smiling broadly as he acknowledged the greeting. O'Brien looked to be in splendid condition as he took off his bath robe. Johnson appeared rather bulky about the waist line, but his splendid muscles stood out in arms and shoulders.

Paul Akooose, an Indian from Crenfell, Saskatchewan, defeated Fred Appleby, of England, the champion 15 miler of the world, in the Arena rink, Winnipeg, on Monday night last in a 15 mile race. Appleby led until the seventh mile but the Indian passed him and won the race by a lap. Time 1:22.30. Akooose only took up the running game last year and so far he has not been defeated. The time made in this race is better than that made in the Shrubbs Longboat race in Montreal, last week by over one and half minutes, and it must be remembered that the race was run in a rink while the Montreal race was held over a third mile track in the open. Akooose will now have to reckon with the long distance races of the future. Appleby's world record for 15 miles is 1:20:4.35.

Whether it rains or shines Cowley is determined to entertain those who will crowd there for the big Victoria day celebration. Boxing and wrestling matches etc. will be pulled off inside. Horse racing, foot racing, polo, football, baseball etc., will be included in the programme for the day. The whole affair will wind up with a grand ball.

Rev. James Sargent will conduct Baptist service in the Oddfellows' hall, Coleman, on Friday at 11 a.m.

PEARLS IN AUSTRALIA

FISHING FOR GEMS IS A GROWING INDUSTRY.

Shells Rather Than Pearls Are the Source of the Big Fortunes Amassed by Men Who Gather the Jewels Off the Coast of Queensland—Malaya and Japanese Do Most of the Diving.

Australasian pearl fishers make their fortune more by the shells they gather than the pearls they find. The Australian pearl is not to be compared with the Oriental; it is too pale and lacks the beautiful sheen, as a rule, of the latter. The Australian shells are large and heavy, while Oriental shells are small and thin.

Thursday Island is the great centre of the pearling industry in Australia, but this extends pretty well all round the coast of Queensland, and Dunbar Land, on the desolate northwest coast of the continent, is also famous for its trade in this respect. Of course, it is because of the shells are valuable. This iridescent lustre is due to the minute undulations of alternating layers of carbonate of lime and membrane. The rough outer coat of the shell is scraped away, and the mother-of-pearl is then ready to be cut into knife-handles, mirror frames, etc.

All round Yew Peninsula—the finger-like projection in the north of Queensland—and upon the numerous islands without the Great Barrier Reef, pearling stations abound. On the edge of the tropical jungle the little settlement is built, the station house, long and low, with a broad verandah, occupying some knoll halfway up the slope of a hill, and looking down upon the store sheds and boat sheds and the Kanakas' hut and kitchen.

Pearl shells are worth anything around $1,000 a ton at Thursday Island, at Broome, in Dunbar Land, or at any Australian port, and if sent direct to other countries they are worth as much as $1,400 a ton. It takes 400 to as many thousand shells to go to the ton, according to size. The best Australian shells are the black and gold-tipped, and many tons of these are annually exported. Of course, what pearls are found are so much extra value, and some say that stones are sometimes found worth $10,000 and more. Pearls worth $1,000 or $1,500 are not uncommon.

For the greater part, the pearling is carried on by pearling companies that run fleets of boats, but there are many private ventures, and some of the industry. A fair amount of capital is required to start in it—$5,000 or $10,000. The boats are small schooners, lugger or yawl, stock it, and hire a Malay or Japanese diver, and a small crew of Kanakas.

Much of the diving is still done by Malay or Kanaka "boys" in the primitive gear of Nature, jumping from the feet first from the side of a small boat, and then swimming to the bottom of the sea, remain.

An expert diver of the latter class demands as much as $750 advance money and $100 a week. The diver brings up. There is not much danger from sharks if there are many divers working together, and so many unworked Malay and Kanaka work in gangs enjoy great immunity than the solitary Indian-rubbered and helmeted diver. While men do not work, their superintendents in the yawl or on the schooner perhaps opening the shells. Great wealth has been made by the Malay and Kanakas, for a pearl is very easily secreted in the loin-head, mouth or ear, and, moreover, the "boys" make it into their heads to murder the white manager and share the precious spoil.

Many white men who trust themselves alone in a boat with a Malay or Kanaka crew are never heard of more—they disappear mysteriously, or are reported as having fallen overboard. The skipper and the mate—if there is one—on a pearling lugger or yawl has to be an expert revolver shot, and may well be said to carry his life continually in his hands. He has to sleep on a half-trigger, so to speak—to be ever ready for mutiny or treachery in some shape or another from one or more of his crew. He does not do to indulge in a brown study—to loiter over the taffrail dreaming of home. A push or a blow from a Malay "kris" may end all further dreaming.

Pearling is only possible at certain seasons. When the weather turns cold and the trade winds become blustering, the fleets return to the stations. The shells are then sorted, washed, weighed, and packed in cases. They are chiefly sold by public auction.

A pearl-oyster is not an oyster at all really, but a species of mussel, and in the majority of cases a pearl is literally "the gem of the sea." The nucleus of a pearl is a foreign body, which was formerly supposed to be a grain of sand or some other extraneous matter that had worked inside the shell, but it is now found to be, as a rule, one of these parasites. Annoyed by the tape-worm or the oyster parasite, the oyster squirts its mucus over it, and another it, thus forming the pearl.

Like the mussel, the pearl-oyster attaches itself to stones and rocks by means of fine but strong threads called "byssus," and not like the oyster, by a secretion of shell-matter. Only in the adult oyster are pearls found of any size. After the fourth year it is calculated the yield of pearls is both in quality and quantity greatly increases. Pearls are often found embedded in the shell, working through to the outer surface, for the oyster seems to be able to change his coat, or else it wears away.

The rarest and most valuable of all Australian pearls is a black pearl, and the most famous pearl found in these waters is the Southern Cross. It was in three portions, and minus the left arm.

Five "Bobbies" a Week

The old-age pension officer was questioning the old woman with a seal of a noble salary.

"And now he said, 'we come to the important questions. Have you ever been in receipt of parish relief?' 'Never!' answered the old woman. Foiled again, the officer turned to the last question on the list.

"Tell me," he snarled, "have you ever been a restraint to his appetite. She hung her head.

"Come on—come on!" he growled. "Tell me the truth!"

"Well," she said, "I don't see as it's any business of giv'ments; but I don't deny it. Girls will be girls, you know, and in my young days I was a cook; but, still—proudly—he was a sergeant!"

Reading in Propriety

"To-morrow you may have something to read," promised the doctor to the patient, who was now convalescing and correspondingly hungry.

The patient realized that there would be a restraint to his appetite, yet he hoped for a modest, steaming meal.

Here is your dinner," said the nurse next day as she gave the patient a spoonful of tapioca pudding; "and the doctor emphasizes that everything else you do must be in the same proportion."

Two hours later the nurse heard a frantic call from the bed-chamber. "Nurse," roared the man, heavily, "I want to do some reading; bring me a postage stamp."

Maud (who has answered the door-bell herself)—George, you must not come into this house to-night. If you love me, darling, fly off once, and do not let my father discover your presence."

George (tragically)—Oh, Maud, my darling, what serpent has entered our Eden to wreck our happiness? Speak, girl, speak!

Maud (tearfully)—Father has just got the gas bill.

The Important Point

Does a hen sit or set?—"Exchange." That is hardly worth worrying over. The important thing is, when she sits, is she laying or lying?—Warren (Ohio) Tribune.

Candidate—Oh that is the new director effect that I apply to language.

His Day of Reckoning

At the stout man whose appetite had excited the envy of the other boarders when his wife came into the studio, he looked down at his waistcoat. "I declare," he said ruefully,

"He was a low boarder, but his lady-lady saw no reason for further delay in showing her banner. 'Watchfulness and Economy for All.' She gave him the benefit of the chair-gate so familiar to her older boarders.

"I think, without doubt you will find them both in the dining-room," she announced calmly.

His Best Authority

Being eager to know how his offspring, Haymow, Jr., was getting along in the big metropolis, Haymow, Sr., one day repaired thither from his rural habitat and sought information of his brother, long since established in the city.

"Wall," said Haymow, Sr., "what do you hear about Ebenezer?"

"Oh, I understand," remarked the young hopeful's uncle, "that he is invaluable in his new job."

"I saw him!"

"Moreover, I understand that the boss simply can't do without him."

"How you talk."

"An' Ebenezer'll be a partner within a year or so, according to what I hear from the same source."

Haymow, Sr., stroked his beard, highly satisfied.

"By the way, who told you all this about Ebenezer?" he inquired.

"Ebenezer."

"Oh."

The Pain of Perseverance.

One of the Chinese methods of punishment is to place the culprit where a drop of water will fall on his head for hours, or even for days if he can stand it so long. The torture this inflicts is proved by an experience that Colonel Fred Burnaby had in Vienna several years ago. A school teacher bet him that he would not be able to let a pint of water drop by drop, fall on his head. Burnaby laughed at the very idea of his not being able to stand it, and the test began.

Although the strong man talked and joked gaily at first, it was not long before he began to show signs of distress. At about the two hundredth drop, for the school teacher kept tally, an expression of pain crossed his face.

Then the third hundred had been entered he had begun to sweat and grow red. Then the skin burst and the pain grew more and more excruciating. Finally, at the four hundred and twentieth drop, Burnaby gave it up and acknowledged himself beaten.

SHOULD RESUME WORK

The board of conciliation to settle the trouble between the Western Coal Operators and the members of the United Mine Workers of America has now been completed by the appointment of Rev. H. N. Grant of Fernie, B. C., as chairman of the board, with Colin Macleod, barrister, of Macleod, as representing the operators, and F. H. Sherman, president of district 18 of U. M. W. of A., representing the men. This board, it is understood, will lose no time in getting down to work, and their finding should be ready in the course of a few days.

It is presumed that both parties will accept this finding as a full settlement of the matters in dispute. Otherwise it would only be a waste of time, energy and expense on the part of the board to deal with the matter at all.

Now, granted that both sides will accept the finding of the board, would it not be in the interest of all concerned that the mines at once resume operations pending the final settlement of the matters in dispute.

The strike has been on for nearly two months and as a consequence the men and the companies have all lost heavily, while the general public have suffered even more than either parties to the dispute.

In the interests of the great west why cannot some arrangement be arrived at whereby work may be resumed without waiting for the decision of the board. A return to work would not in any way prejudice the case of either party before the board of conciliation or with the public and therefore there is no good reason why the mines should not commence operations immediately.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The Ledger gang have not yet boycotted this "rag," thus allowing us to produce our regular effusion.

Parties who complained of not receiving titles to lots purchased in Blairmore have had their money refunded. This bears out the assertion that the legal tangle is still on.

Some people may say that we have severe winters here, but when it becomes generally known that cattle can live all through those winters with what sustenance they may be able to find on the range, this cool winter theory will sink into oblivion.

The federal house at Ottawa closed Thursday after a session of four months of which most of the time was spent in protecting the grafters and white-washing their high steals. The preventing of the holding of an investigation into the Interior department business during the reign of King Sifton, was considered a great Liberal success.

Who would not wish to be as infallible as the District Ledger? Never making mistakes—only when it is to their advantage to do so.

Lethbridge Herald:—The prospects are that there will be another big coal mining town in this vicinity. When these men who bought the lands on the Little Bow get operating their lands it will mean a good sized town. When every town-ship has a mine underneath and a crop of Alberta Red on top of the earth, Southern Alberta will be a great producer of wealth.

We believe that it is about time that a citizens' meeting was called to draw up a programme and make the necessary arrangements for the Dominion day celebration in this town. We might just say for the benefit of those who have lately made Coleman their home and have not had the pleasure of participating in Dominion day celebration in this town, that the celebration here on that day is equal to that of the large cities. We make large provisions, and people from all parts of the Pass are entertained here on that day; to make it short, Dominion day is Coleman's day. We hope, however, to be able to publish a full programme in our next issue.

The District Ledger, the Crows Nest Pass Socialist blabber, has not been in good humor since the time it got gay with the judiciary. "What fools these mortals be!"

The government acted very wisely in appointing Rev. H. N. Grant of Fernie, B. C., as chairman of the board of conciliation. Mr. Grant, who at one time was a resident of Pincher Creek, is well and favorably known throughout Southern Alberta and no better choice could have been made with a view to a successful termination of the work of the board. With Colin Macleod representing the operators and Frank H. Sherman, representing the miners the board is now complete and it is stated that no time will be lost in getting to work. The people of the Pass will await anxiously the result of the board's deliberations, which, it is expected, will prove satisfactory.

SEPTIC TANKS

Dr. Burrow, the provincial health officer, who was in town a little while ago, when speaking of septic tanks he informed H. Gate, the local sanitary inspector, that it was the intention of the provincial health officers to insist on all residences in towns where they have not sewers, having septic tanks. Furthermore he stated that this law would likely come into force inside of the next twelve months. We are doubtful in our own minds whether the public will stand for such a procedure as outlined by the health officers of Alberta. But supposing that they mean business the following may be a timely article:

At a meeting at Toronto last week of the Engineers' club the fifth report of the British Royal commission on sewage disposal was discussed by T. Auld Murray, who said:

The commission divides the various processes as follows, while they preface their remarks by saying that all tanks are sedimentation tanks:

- (a) Quiescent settlement without chemicals.
- (b) Quiescent settlement with chemicals.
- (c) Continuous flow settlement without chemicals.
- (d) Continuous flow settlement with chemicals.
- (e) Septic tanks.

With reference to the first of these processes no fixed rules can be given. The sewage being allowed to remain in the tanks until such time as the greater part of the solids have settled and the liquor drawn off by a floating arm; the number and sizes of the tanks depending entirely on the quantity of sewage treated and the amount of time required for settlement with the particular sewage. Experiments at Leeds and Sheffield demonstrated that two or three hours was sufficient to remove a large portion of the suspended solids and produce a fairly good tank liquor. With these tanks it is usual to remove the deposit after every first or second filling in order to obtain a highly efficient condition.

A great amount of attention is given to the process of sludge digestion, known as the septic tank process. Many and varied opinions have been ventilated on the process, most, however, of a very exaggerated and unsympathetic character, arising, no doubt, from the fact that the process has been run and boomed by a company whose chief object has been the selling of their wares at a profit.

The commission says: The knowledge that the solid matter of sewage would be digested by passing the sewage through a heated tank is by no means novel, but it does not appear to have had any extensive practical application until Mr. Cameron, city surveyor of Exeter, proposed the adoption of the septic tank treatment for that city.

It was claimed that the septic tank possessed the following, among other advantages: That it solved the sludge difficulty, inasmuch as practically all the organic solid matter was digested in the tank; that it destroyed any pathogenic organisms which there may be in the sewage; that sewage which had passed through a septic tank was more easily oxidized than sewage from which the solids had been allowed to settle, either with or without the aid of chemicals, in tanks which were frequently cleaned out.

The commissioners now are able to state that all the organic solids present in sewage are not digested by septic tanks, the amount of digestion varying with the character of the sewage, the use of the tanks relative to the volume treated, and the frequency of cleaning. With a domestic sewage, and tanks worked at a 24 hours rate, the digestion is about 25 per cent.

The liquor issuing from septic tanks is bacteriologically almost as impure as the sewage entering the tanks. Domestic sewage which has been passed through a septic tank is not more easily oxidized in its passage through filters than domestic sewage which has been subjected to chemical precipitation or simple sedimentation. In connection with the amount of solid matter digested the experiments were carried on for over two years at the Exeter and Ilford works.

As regards the third claim the experiments were carried on by Mr. Eric H. Richards, the commissioners' chemist at Exeter. The experiments were very complete and conclusive. The settlement of suspended solids in septic tanks is not unusually very thorough, and the evidence also shows that at many places the liquor issuing from the tanks contains on the average from 15 to 20 parts of solid.

With reference to closing a tank over, the report states:

As regards digestion of sludge, and quality of tank liquor, the closed tank possesses no advantages over the open one. The commissioners, however, recommend that the tanks be closed so as to diminish the nuisance from smell.

The above conclusions appear to point to the advisability of some improvement to the septic tank as now used. The only point in its favor in comparison with other methods appears to be the fact that a percentage of the sludge is dissolved by putrefaction and hydrolysis. The main point against it is that the liquor is not constant, and that the suspended matter increases as time goes on. This suggests that it is desired to get rid of part of the sludge by putrefaction.

All sewage works are liable at times to give off unpleasant smells, and they should, therefore, be situated away from dwelling houses. The extent of the risk of nuisance, however, depends not only on the character of the sewage, but also on the method of treatment.

Septic tank treatment is more offensive than simple sedimentation. During sludging operations sulphuretted hydrogen is given off.

In this connection the practice in the United States may be noted, where it is considered advisable to reduce the risk of smell by using septic tanks of a capacity of eight hours, providing coarse grain filters which allow a large amount of suspended matter in the to pass through into the filtrate, arresting it in the final effluent.

GROWING BOYS AND GROWING GIRLS

Head Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to Give Them Health and Strength.

Growing boys as well as girls need a tonic as a tonic as the Williams' Pink Pills to keep the blood rich and pure and give them health and strength. Mrs. Edward Koch, postmistress at Prince's Lodge, N. S., writes the great benefit her little son has derived from the use of this world-famous medicine. Mrs. Koch says: "My little son, Reginald, had been tormented with anemia almost since birth. He was always a sickly looking child, with no energy and little or no appetite. His voice showed very plainly through his skin and he had several serious attacks of stomach and bowel trouble, and on one occasion his life was despaired of by two doctors who were attending him. His little body was slowly wasting away until he was nothing more than a skeleton. He was peevish and fretful and a misery to himself. Having read and heard so much of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills I determined to try them in his case, and after giving them for a couple of months they certainly worked wonders with him. To-day he is fat and healthy looking, has a hearty appetite, is able to play like other children, and is bright and energetic, instead of dull and listless as he was. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have changed my puny, sickly child into a rugged, hearty boy."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured this sickly boy because they went down to the root of the trouble in his blood. That is why they never fail. Bad blood is the cause of all common diseases like anemia (bloodlessness), eczema, paleness, headaches, indigestion, kidney trouble, neuralgia, rheumatism and the special ailments that only growing girls and women can know. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills don't bother with mere symptoms, they cure diseases throughout the blood. They don't cure for a day—they cure to stay cured. Do not take any pills without the full name "Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People" printed around each box. Sold by all medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville Ont.

Sure Of It

The frail parent presented himself, demanded he, with the utmost sternness, "have I caught you kissing my daughter?"

If by this he expected to plunge the young visitor into confusion, it must be confessed that the old gentleman was grossly mistaken. The young man, however, calmly answered the greatest calamity.

"I hope, sir," he said, "there is no mistake about it. The lights are none too bright, and I would be much mortified to learn that, after all, I was kissing the housemaid."

The Sorrows of Parting

M. Serpollet had finished his holiday in England and paid the exorbitant hotel bill. He had been in and yet his native courtesy was as perfect as ever.

"Send me, proprietore to me," he said to the waiter, and presently mine host entered.

"Immediately Serpollet was all beaming smiles."

"Ah, let me embrace you! Let me kiss you!" he cried in ecstasy of welcome.

"But why do you want to embrace me, sir? I don't understand."

"Ah, saire, but look at seas beard."

"You bill. Yes, but what of it?"

"Vot of it? Vy mot money? I s'all nevaire, nevaire see you again, dear saire!"—London Sketch.

Afternoon

All undisturbed she asks: "Now shall I play to that?"

Or—makes the trumpet, and deftly scoops the odd:

While at home the dinner cooks, In a case that looks like books,

And hubby's down town hustling for a wage.

In the treatment of summer complaints, the most effective remedy that can be used is Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial. It is a standard preparation, and many people employ it in preference to other preparations. It is a highly concentrated medicine and its sedative and curative qualities are beyond question. It has been a popular medicine for many years, and thousands can attest its superior qualities in overcoming dysentery and kindred complaints.

A Grateful Whistler

A patronizing young lord was seated opposite the late James McNeil Whistler at dinner one evening. During a lull in the conversation he adjusted his monocle and leaned forward toward the artist.

"Aw, y' know, Mr. Whistler," he drawled, "I painted your house this morning."

"Thank you," said Whistler. "Thank you very much."—M. A. P.

CANADA'S HYMN OF EMPIRE.

Invocation.

Eternal Father, God of our fair land, A loyal nation lifts her heart to Thee.

Before the world we dare to take Thy hand, Claiming Thy guidance to our destiny.

Our Message to the World.

Our word is peace, our rights are equal laws, Our arms of love we spread from sea to sea.

Our life is progress toward the broad, Our hope through justice to give liberty.

No tyrant owns us, and we own no slave, But brothers see in all the good and true.

Home of the hopeful, refuge of the brave, Here may depart her faith in man renew.

In amity we bind the rich and poor, And break the shackles from the mind and soul.

By honest labor make contentment, Still onward pressing to our destined goal.

Seeking by knowledge to let in the light, To bring the blessings Art and Science bring;

Till our vast lands with human smiles are bright, And every tongue shall hear our children sing.

In our strong right we bid aggression halt, And treason fear our British bugle call.

Our bond of Empire brooks no vile assault, We rise with Britain or with Britain fall.

Our Destiny.

Thus shall we take our high and sovereign place, And Canada for truth and honor stake.

A loyal people, a united race, A happy nation in a glorious cause.

SABLE ISLAND.

Tragedies of the Most Desolate of Canada's Island.

A couple of brief paragraphs in the report of the Department of Marine and Fisheries rescue from forgetfulness that melancholy bank of sand lying out in the Atlantic Ocean 110 miles east of the mainland of Nova Scotia, and marked on the map as Sable Island. Fortunately, no wrecks have occurred recently, but it is a reminder of the Canadian people of the island's existence, and this undesirable place.

At the level of a mere incident in the administration of the Marine Department.

Sable Island was at one time a dangerous place, especially when sailing ships came to anchor there. It is now, given a wide berth, and its record is less gloomy than it used to be.

HE TOOK A FRIEND'S ADVICE

AND DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS SOON CURED HIS BACKACHE

How Malcolm McKinnon Found Comfort and Permanent Relief From His Kidney and Stomach Troubles.

Shunnesside, Cape Breton Co., N. S. (Special).—Suffering with Backache so much that he could not work, Malcolm McKinnon, a well-known resident of this place, took a friend's advice and used Dodd's Kidney Pills.

The result is that he is back at work and his Backache is gone.

"Yes," he says, in speaking of his case, "I was troubled with Backache, due to wet feet and work. It got so severe at last I was quite unable to do my work."

"It was through a friend's advice I started using Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I was soon aware that they were doing me good. My back was easier and I had less pain in urinating."

"As Dodd's Kidney Pills had done me so much good I thought I would try Dodd's Dyspepsia Tablets and I did so with marvellous effect. Two bottles cured my stomach right."

With Dodd's Kidney Pills to keep my Kidneys well and the blood pure, and Dodd's Tablets to keep the stomach in shape so that the body receives the nourishment it needs, you are assured of the two first essentials to health. Any doctor will tell you that."

Traced by a Photograph

It was just a wet bit of a post office, not a hundred yards from Chocoma, Kasich, N. B., and the postmaster's name was Sandy McLeod, and his hair was red.

Smith was of London—very much so—and his walking tour in the 'Ighlands of Bonnie Scotland had not been without its drawbacks.

"Is there a letter for me for Mr. Smith?" he asked Sandy.

"Ay, mon, there is; but 'so can I ken ye're the right body?" replied the red-haired postmaster.

Smith dove into his breast-pocket, and drew out a letter.

"Sandy scratched his head."

"Ow, ay, that's right—that's right. I suppose?" he muttered, and handed over the letter.

"When Your Child Has a Cold"

Are you satisfied with anything that is given under the name of cough medicine?

Or do you search out a medicine of proven value such as Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine.

How few cases of consumption there would be if every child's cold were looked after as it should be.

Did you ever think of it in this way? It is the neglected cough and cold that leads to the dreadful lung disease sooner or later. From repeated attacks the lungs are weakened and there comes pneumonia or consumption to disfigure and finally fatal results.

How watchful parents should be of their children. How careful to use effective treatment instead of waiting to cough mixtures which are often of little value or of harmful effects.

Because it is prepared from linseed, turpentine and other simple but wonderfully effective ingredients, Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is particularly suitable as a treatment for children's coughs and colds.

Croup, bronchitis and even whooping cough yields to the influence of the great medicine, and for this reason it is kept constantly on hand in the majority of homes and has enormous sales.

Mr. John Cheesey, Inniskilling, Ont., writes: "Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine cured my little girl of whooping cough when the doctor had given her up and since then she always keeps it in the house as a treatment for coughs and colds. It is the best medicine we ever used."

Do not get into round statements such as this and you want the most effective treatment possible when your child becomes ill. Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine is sold in bottles, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bales & Co., Toronto.

MILLION-ACRE FARM.

Prince Edward Island is Often Called the Garden of the Gulf.

The Dominion of Canada is said to be the brightest gem in Britain's crown, and Prince Edward Island, the smallest province, situated in the Gulf of St. Lawrence, is known as the "Garden of the Gulf." This appellation, however, is appropriate only during the summer months.

By the terms under which the Island Province entered into the Confederation compact with the Dominion in 1873 it was stipulated that the Dominion should provide "efficient and continuous steam communication between the island and the mainland winter and summer" but although in a measure satisfied the attempt made have never yet been successful through whatever cause.

To keep up communication across Northernland Straits, and thus carry out the Dominion Government provided the Northern Light, Stanley and Minto at successive periods during the winter months.

The Northern Light, the first winter steamer, was not specially built for the purpose.

In 1887 the Federal Government sent Captain McKinnon, naval officer, to study the conditions of ice navigation, and from the information thus obtained the Stanley was evolved.

She was completed the following year, and arrived in Charlottetown Dec. 14, 1888.

Smith was of London—very much so—and his walking tour in the 'Ighlands of Bonnie Scotland had not been without its drawbacks.

"Is there a letter for me for Mr. Smith?" he asked Sandy.

Correspondence

(The editor of this paper does not hold himself responsible for the opinions expressed by his correspondents.)

To the Editor of Coleman Miner.

Dear Sir,—

In a recent issue of The Frank Paper there was a long article on the creamery situation in Lundbreck, about how the farmers were supporting the movement etc. It would be idle to ask the informant of The Frank Paper to tell the truth in the matter, but knowing of the fearless stand which you have always taken for justice and truth, I am writing to you.

I may say that no farmer or rancher who keeps milk cows and makes butter had anything to do with the creamery idea or movement; but a class of men who do not keep cows, who, no doubt, consider the milking of a bunch of cows hard work, but that the "milking" of the farmers or some other honest, working men far easier.

One of the promoters was informed by a Mr. Scott that any old thing with horns was not a milk cow, that a three-strand wire fence made a poor barn, that old tin cans and old brooms made a poor substitute for clover and alfalfa. So in view of these facts and also to have to take into consideration the fact that the farmer is getting harder to "milk" as the time goes by, the creamery has been removed from the stage, and a new scheme started, to collect a little money, which, no doubt, the informant will bring to the front.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor, in advance for the valuable space in your much read paper, I remain,
Yours truly,
A SOCIALIST FARMER
Lundbreck, May 17th, 1909.

Notice to the Public

I take this opportunity of informing the residents of the Pass that I am prepared to collect accounts, rents, etc. Anything in this line entrusted to me will receive prompt attention.
Commissioner for taking affidavits.
House and shacks to rent.
